"Our primary goal is to ensure clients can understand and address key components in the recently established regulations while having confidence in our product offerings," explains Sanjeev Dahiwadkar, president and CEO of IndiSoft, in a release. "The CFPB and other financial institution regulatory agencies continue to update regulations enacted after the 2008 financial crisis. We must be able to interpret those regulations based on each clients' specific requirements. Ober|Kaler's team has the experience necessary to sort through those regulations and provide us with the necessary insight. They will greatly assist us in helping our clients stay informed as well as adhere to all the compliance regulations."
